

Office of the Mayor

Proclamation

Parental Alienation Awareness Day

WHEREAS, Parental Alienation involves the importance of awareness and intervention for the prevention of alienating behaviors for the benefit of families and children; and

WHEREAS, with awareness comes education and the understanding and the power to protect innocent children who begin to feel alienated from one or both parents when their family faces divorce, change, tragedies or trials; and

WHEREAS, professionals agree that when parental alienation occurs, it can be damaging to children and can affect them into adulthood; and

WHEREAS, the ultimate goal is to have children and parents feel unified and secure in whatever personal situation they may encounter today and throughout life's journey; and

WHEREAS, through awareness and education, parents can better recognize the potential hazards which may cause a sense of alienation to occur in their child's life and thereby allow the doors of communication and understanding to be opened.

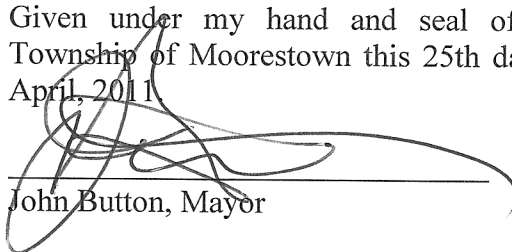

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Township Council of the Township of Moorestown, County of Burlington, State of New Jersey, that April 25, 2011 is hereby proclaimed as in Moorestown, New Jersey, and urge all citizens to take this opportunity to make their homes a safe haven for their children and to correct any potentially alienating situations.

Given under my hand and seal of the Township of Moorestown this 25th day of April, 2011

John Button, Mayor
